Dear Customer.

As a valued client of Laird Connectivity, we appreciate the trust you place in us for delivering your wireless connectivity needs. We are aware of the growing concern around possible supply chain disruption being caused by the conflict between Russia and Ukraine. Laird wants to assure you that we do not have any manufacturing or logistics based in the region and we do not expect any delivery issues related to the matter.

We will continue to monitor the situation closely and provide updates as needed. We appreciate your continued support.

Sincerely.
